Eucharistic Adoration

"When your hour (Holy Hour) is particularly difficult, rejoice all the more; your love will be greater for its suffering more. It is a privileged hour that will count for two."
~St. Peter Julian Eymard

Sometimes your Holy Hour may be full of apparent graces, sometimes it will be a struggle. God will use it all for His glory. In fact, St. Peter Julian Eymard tells us that the difficult Holy Hours are the "privileged" ones.

Interested in making a regular Holy Hour, maybe a more difficult one in the early hours of the morning? Call or text 989-292-2072.

WE ARE ALL EVANGELIZERS

(and whatever else is on Deacon Eric's mind)

Do You Think Jesus Was Humorous?

A priest, a minister and a rabbi walk into a bar. The bartender, who was washing glasses, stops, looks up and says "What is this A JOKE?" (Cue rim shot)

Maybe that brought a groan or a grin, but probably not a guffaw, but then again it's the type of joke that's not intended to bring out-loud laughter, but rather a smile. Maybe it breaks a sour mood or helps "turn a frown upside down." Under any of those scenarios the simple joke has achieved its purpose.

Usually in July, when I'm out vacationing and not feeling all that insightful or theological, I just grab a couple jokes from one of the three books of Catholic jokes in my library and just pass them along. The opening joke was from one of those books. But this year is a little bit different in that this July slot comes right after Pope Francis invited comedians from all over the world to Rome for an audience with him.

The pope thanked the comics, in essence, just for being funny. Pope Francis thanked them for helping people laugh, giving them a release from the pressures of life. He even said it was okay for them to occasionally make a joke about God. Well-known American comedians like Jimmy Fallon, Stephen Colbert, Whoopi Goldberg, Julie Louse Dreyfuss and Chris Rock were among those attending.

Colbert, who hosts a late night talk show, told his audience the next week how honored he was to meet the pope, although he reminded them: "You know I have made jokes about the pope and Catholicism in the past, and now I am extremely happy that they never got translated into Italian."

Here we are, more than halfway through the column, and I haven't addressed the question I posed at the beginning. That's because I think 99.9 percent of those reading this believe that the answer is "Yes, of course, Jesus had a sense of humor." The remaining 0.1 percent are probably out washing their hands with 99.44 percent pure Ivory soap. An analytical response would be that Jesus was truly human as well as truly divine and showed emotions like anger and sadness in the gospels, so he most likely laughed as well. And since he was usually the center of attention, there were probably times that he let a great one-liner go every now and then. In the TV series "The Chosen" he is definitely shown to have a sense of humor, some of which came from his occasional disillusionment with his apostles. He might have offered a first-century edition of this joke:

"A boy asked his father for the keys to the car and the father responded by saying 'Not until you get a haircut.' To which the boy replied 'Jesus had long hair.' And the father responded, 'Yes, and he walked everywhere.'"

Keep smiling everybody.

The Importance of Mass

Do I have to go to Mass every Sunday or attend one of the Masses on Saturday afternoon/ evening?

Yes! Even if you have company at the house, and they don't go to Mass. You still have the obligation to attend. Every Christian is responsible to God first. We also have an obligation to give witness to His will in our lives. Going to Mass when every body remains home can be a powerful influence, a channel of grace that God can use to awaken others to their responsibilities to Him. If we fail to attend Mass, we give scandal be reinforcing in others the attitude that the Sunday Mass is dispensable, in addition to our own sin of neglecting the Mass.

What if I'm out of town or traveling?

No matter where we are, we still must go to Mass. We have the obligation of trying to find a Mass celebrated in our area. If we are a hundred miles from anywhere, up in the mountains camping, that's one thing. But if our travels have taken us somewhere we can get to Mass, we must attend.

Traveling this summer?

MassTimes.org provides worship times, locations, contact info, websites and maps of over 117,000 churches in 201 countries and territories.

Prayer for Travelers

Lord, be our guide and our protector on the journey we are about to take.
Watch over us.
Protect us from accidents.
Keep us free from harm to body and soul.
Lord, support us with Your grace when we are tired.
Help us be patient in any trouble which may come our way.
Keep us always mindful of Your presence and love.
Amen.
